

Description du lieu

This heritage building, build in 1874, made of brick and warheads in the North of France is a former convent which welcomed the life of sisters in cells and common spaces around religious lifestyle. You can find there a chapel, an old school, a cloister and gardens. Since the departure of the Clarisse sisters and the desecration of the building, a very young transitional rehabilitation project has settled there (Saisons Zero), planning to reactivate all the spaces as they go. This progressive rehabilitation leaves spaces available for filming, in their vintage state for most of them.
